devil may cry 5 alt title calls

nooooooooooooo!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Why is the situation like this?!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! I cann't take it!!!!!!!!!!!!

plz, I'm begging you, must be a dlc for this Endgame, at least they don't not worth it for this!!!!!!!!!!!!

I'll speare all my money !!!!!

I'm crying so damn loud right now ,and shaking . ;_;

This will gonna be cocktail of suck in my poor life now ;_:..... No real gameplay , no story , bad graphics :)

Ps : Very bad voice acting. Nice soundtrack, but I think it's a bit expensive for just a few songs. Get it on a good sale!. Ive never had so much fun with Space with this DLC 13V10. i would recommend this game to anyone up to a challenge as this game from start from finish makes you sit on the edge of your seat as your get better but in the same time the game slaps you for getting too many of one thing and makes it harder to get and adds more harsh weather. this game has perfect challenge for me and probably would for anyone looking for challenging games, 10V10. Warrior KIng has been a great game, even in my childhood with massive battles and suprisingly a great story.

However!

On modern systems this game is known for its bugs and unit warping; which trust me when your playing, it can get really annoying. So sadly I cannot recommend this game due to this fact, because it makes it unplayable.

Don't waste \u00a37 pounds of money. If you are going to buy it because of nostalgia, buy it when its cheap.. Brothers in Arms: Earned in Blood is a cod ripoff 0/10. The steam store listed it as local multiplayer but that is a lie. Thats the only reason I bought this game.

10V10 would bang. Actually a pretty neat game. Pretty early (it's alpha) but you can see the potential. For 11$ why not support the developer?. My wrists hurt. I really don't understand why people cry and whine about the game not looking the best... IT'S 10+ YEARS OLD, GET OVER IT!

Anyway, I personally love this game!

The only con from me is that you don't get enough time to get to each station. Wish we got more time!. This is a great simulator. It has lots of shells to work with. The display graphics are great if you have a 2Gb video card or better. The only limitations are as follow: You can't use artists mp3 as background music then post it to certain social media due to copyright laws and You only have two locations for launching fireworks. You launch from either barges or a golf course. If you forget and create a display with an artists music some social media will remove it and warn you about breaking copyright laws.. The Space Pilgrim Academy series (Years 1 -3 and Reunion) serves as a welcome continuation of the Space Pilgrim saga. Under the tutelage of the original titular protagonist, you play as and meet new characters as the consequences of her past actions begin to surface and disrupt the current state of galactic affairs.

This series appears to be a tad more ambitious than its predecessor, and leaves a few threads hanging as a precursor to a potential third sequel. While I look forward to experiencing more of the Space Pilgrim universe, the lack of self-contained conclusion does not sit well with me.. Game does not work.. This was the first music driven game I have played in VR and I really hope it won't be the last. VR opens up so many more possibilities for immersion and music. There are music driven games out there that can really pull you in, and VR has the capability of taking that and pushing it to the next level.

This game is okay. It's not the best, I wouldn't say it's next level material but I did get that hyped-up and happy feeling from playing a few of my favourite songs. Your surroundings are bright, colourful and it dances with your music. I found it fun to even stand and look around, let alone bust out some drum moves.

I won't lie to you, I held back a bit seeing as I was banging imaginary drums like a moron to no music in the family dining area. If I would have been alone I think I would of gone in on this a lot more enthusiastically and gotten my rave on. With that said though I still found this to be a very enjoyable game.

When I booted up the game I was a little concerned that I would have to download some music for it to go from or be forced to use some lame sample music that music driven games tend to provide. The fun in these games for me comes from being able to put my own music tastes into the game. I was pleasantly surprised to find that you can actually pick some music from the SoundCloud top 50 (so of course I had to get on that Despacito bandwagon).

The only thing I thought might make this game better was if hitting the drum actually did something. I mean, it does something, it determines your score and all. I just thought that it would feel a lot better if when you hit it, it actually made a sound. If you loosely compare it to guitar hero, in guitar hero the music will play as long as you're playing it properly. Hitting the notes will continue to play the song and if you miss it you get that horrid noise that breaks the flow and makes you feel like the worst musician ever. Then when you actually hit the notes correctly you feel a lot more accomplished and it gets you more hyped up during the song.

That was my only fault on it, besides that I enjoyed it and would recommend it for someone that might just want a chill jam on the virtual reality drums.

TL;DR : Not the best music driven game ever, it might not take advantage of the new possibilities VR provides, but it's still an all around sound game to jam out on.
